(RE)PHRASING: Shaping Music With Modern Instruments

Conférence et Masterclass
avec le clarinettiste Christian Stene

en collaboration avec la
Luxembourg Clarinet Association

Biography:

Christian Stene is an Associate Professor of clarinet and Ph.D. Artistic Research Fellow at The Grieg Academy – Department of Music at the University of Bergen, Norway. He is also the National Chairperson (Norway) for the International Clarinet Association (ICA) and a Buffet Crampon and Vandoren performing artist. Christian was the principal clarinetist of the Bergen Philharmonic Orchestra from 2010 to 2022 and the Norwegian National Opera Orchestra from 2007 to 2010.

Conference:

Phrasing is how a musician shapes music, it is the performer's musical language. Instrumentalists have seen technical developments and innovations over hundred of years, leading to the instrument we use today. Modern orchestral instruments are often very different from their historical predecessors in terms of more evenness throughout the registers, larger volume and projection. The methodology of playing is equally often focused on making all notes have the same shape. But what happens, if everything sounds the same? Has phrasing become a victim of evenness?
